

Andrew Lee Colvin

December 28, 1964 - February 11, 2025

St. George City, UT - Andrew Lee Colvin, our beloved brother, son, husband, and loving friend left the embrace of his family on February 11th, 2025, after complications from a medical procedure. He was 60 years old and brought great joy to us all during that time through both the good times and the challenging ones. We will miss him dearly.

Andrew was born on December 28th, 1964, in Ogden, Utah to Bobby Wallace Colvin and Marilyn Ruth Brown. He grew up in Weber County and thrived with the love and guidance of his parents who were both amazing teachers. He was a gentle quiet man who cared deeply and loved fiercely. He was a very talented, creative decorator with a knack for enriching the lives of those he loved. In high school and college, he developed a love for theater and acting and performed in several plays and productions. He came alive and stole the show in every production he was in, often with his beautiful booming singing voice that was astounding. He had a quirky sense of humor and was a natural mimic to always keep us smiling. He spent time with the Shakespeare Theatre in Cedar City in 1984 and made many friends sharing his love for movies, theater, and drama throughout the rest of his life. He was also talented at clerking, record keeping, and accounting and worked for several companies including in the airline industry and banking. He loved travelling, having taken several trips to Europe beginning with his mission to Scotland.

On October 27th, 2015, he was able to marry his longtime companion Trase Mac Taggart. Though their paths had crossed before, they found each other and loved and supported each other together since 2000. Through thick and thin, good times and bad, they experienced it together and gave each other strength and joy. We thank Andrew and Trase for their willingness to help provide loving care and companionship for Andrew's elderly father.

Andrew leaves behind his husband, Trase Taggart, father Bob Colvin, his sister Sue Colvin Bachmann (Ric), his brothers Matthew Colvin, Robert (Suzanne) Colvin, and Brett Colvin (Natalie Scott), his 8 nieces and nephews as well as their 12 children. Andrew was preceded in death by his mother Marilyn Colvin. Until we meet again beloved Andrew.

The family would like to thank all the first responders, doctors, nurses, and social workers who were there for us in our great time of need. We hope that in Andrew's honor you donate blood to help save lives or consider a donation to the American Red Cross.

In lieu of flowers, a funeral, or memorial services, family and friends are invited to share tributes online at www.SerenityStG.com. We thank Serenity Funeral Home of Southern Utah for providing the family with advice, counsel, and care for our loved one in our greatest time of need.

Tribute Wall

“ Andy is so talented, kind caring gentle soul. Blessing of comfort to your husband and family.

Tjitske Tubbergen - June 13, 2025 at 11:26 PM

LS

“ Dear Andy I have always been grateful for your friendship and in awe of your amazing talents! Prayers for your husband and family! Love ya, Loree Newman Seims

Loree Seims - March 08, 2025 at 02:50 PM

LB

“ I loved Andy, which is how I knew him in high school. He was one of my best friends during some of my hardest days. He always had a smile and a hug just when I needed it. I always enjoyed bumping in to him over the years, and reconnecting for a few minutes. Rest in peace beautiful soul. You were loved.

Leslie Ehmann Boren - March 08, 2025 at 12:35 PM

TB

“ Im heartbroken to hear of Andrew's passing. He was a dear friend from long ago.

Tim Behunin - March 07, 2025 at 07:52 PM

“ Andrew and Trase were here to visit last month so it was especially jarring to learn that he had passed a few days after leaving here. We were each other's first boyfriend in 1989. He looked like a young Mark Harmon with darting, icy blue eyes sneaking glances at me behind the counter where I worked at the local video store. We starred in "The Pirates of Penzance" together, where he played the pirate king and I played his sidekick. He was exceedingly shy and gentle in person, but came alive onstage, throwing everyone off with his fearless performances and beautiful singing voice. He also kept an unexpected and unpredictable undercurrent of spicy snark holstered that could be drawn upon in a split second, cutting like a Dane Maggie Smith sneer. Just when you thought you had him pegged, he would reveal another layer. He was the personification of the phrase "Still waters run deep." We both lived with our parents and had nowhere to cuddle, so we spent a lot of time in his car, even getting caught by the cops on occasion. We were so relieved to have found each other in a time when it was still taboo to have even thoughts about such feelings, much less act on them. It was euphoric to abandon the loneliness we felt in favor of companionship and understanding. Though at times, the guilt of it all weighed us down and we would fantasize about a big, red button that when pushed, would magically turn us heterosexual so that we wouldn't be a disappointment to our families, our friends and our God.

But eventually we transcended the shame and found pride for our nature, knowing we hadn't chosen it; knowing that it was pure and we were deserving of love as much as any other person in society. Much to our delight, our families and friends did not abandon us for it. Our romantic relationship lasted fewer than two years, but we remained close friends, roommates, travel companions and confidants over the span of 36 years, even after we both found lasting love with our wonderful, handsome husbands, who respected our lasting friendship. I'm so relieved to have had the chance to see him before he passed and reminisce about old times with each other. I don't know where he is now, but I hope he's still singing his soft spoken heart out in the hereafter, taking by surprise anyone who thinks they have him figured out. They say you never forget your first and I never will. I've loved him for nearly four decades and always will.

Byron Winward - March 06, 2025 at 10:46 AM

SW

“ We shared so many wonderful memories, especially our unforgettable trip to Europe in 2018. He was such a bright light in my life, and I will miss him dearly. Since he passed, there have been some unexpected electrical issues in my home, and I can't help but wonder if it's his way of letting me know he's still around. One day, when my time comes, I look forward to seeing him again, and maybe we'll finally take that trip to Scotland we always talked about. I love him dearly and always will.

Shelly Williams - February 23, 2025 at 06:24 PM

CC

“ I'm so sorry to hear about Andrew's passing. I worked with him at SkyWest and always appreciated conversations and interactions with him. He was a gentle, caring soul.

CHARISSE CAREY - February 19, 2025 at 12:59 PM

MB

“ Andrew had such a beautiful, quirky smile. So sorry for your loss. I know my brother Trase loved him deeply, and will miss him so much. I pray the family will all come together and help each other through this tough time. Dan and Michele Butler

Michele Butler - February 18, 2025 at 11:07 AM

TW

“ I am sorry to hear of Andrews passing. I think Hoss and I are still in shock. I feel like I just saw him walking the dogs in Avenidas. We got to know him more from his frequent visits to our model home while his father's house was being built. I know the family is devastated, especially Trase. I know how much he loved having his Dad and brother move closer so that they could help with his dad. I am beyond words right now, still in shock as are those who loved him the most.

Tracie Wilson

Tracie Wilson - February 17, 2025 at 03:19 PM

RF

“ Though I didn't know Andrew closely, I feel the profound void he will leave in the hearts of his husband, family, and friends. His gentle spirit and the natural way he illuminated every room he graced, even without uttering a word, are memories I cherish. Most unforgettable of all is his smile—that beautiful Colvin smile. If you've ever had the privilege of meeting anyone from his family, you understand exactly what I mean. My heart aches for his husband and the entire Colvin family. The world has lost a truly remarkable man, and he will be deeply missed.

Robert Forrest - February 15, 2025 at 10:46 PM

TH

Andrew will be missed. I enjoyed visiting with him on his walks with Trase. He was a kind and gentle soul. May the peace of the lord be with you Trase, and all of Andrew's family. Fly with the angels Andrew!

Terry Hogan - February 23, 2025 at 05:04 PM