“ "The Twelfth Of Never"

*You ask how much I need you, must I explain?
I need you, oh my darling, like roses need rain.
You ask how long I'll love you; I'll tell you true:
Until the twelfth of never, I'll still be loving you.*

*Hold me close, never let me go.
Hold me close, melt my heart like April snow.*

*I'll love you till the bluebells forget to bloom;
I'll love you till the clover has lost its perfume.
I'll love you till the poets run out of rhyme,
Until the twelfth of never and that's a long, long time.*

*Hold me close, never let me go.
Hold me close, melt my heart like April snow.*

*I'll love you till the bluebells forget to bloom;
I'll love you till the clover has lost its perfume.
I'll love you till the poets run out of rhyme,
Until the twelfth of never and that's a long, long time.*

Until the twelfth of never and that's a long, long time.

“ I first knew Bruce as a co-worker and then as a friend. In late November 2016 he asked me about my upcoming surgery and gave me some advice and support. At the time I didn't know how ill he was since he spent the time wishing me well and saying to not worry about him. That's the man I knew. Yes, he was smart and a hard worker but he was also compassionate and caring and I'll never forget that about him.
God rest your soul Bruce.
Marge, I wish you the comfort of good memories and some peace that I hope will come with time.

“ Marge, I am so sorry for your loss. Bruce took great care of me when we worked together. If we couldn't figure something out, he always could. Great guy to talk to at all hours. As the years went on, we would talk about everything. I moved to Fl to work at home since he was in AZ at the time and then moved to SD. You will always be in my prayers.
