

Deborah Horn Humphries

February 4, 1955 - July 7, 2017

Deborah (Debbie) Horn Humphries of Newnan, GA, born February 4, 1955 in Woburn, MA., died on July 7, 2017, at her sister's home in St. George, UT, after battling lung cancer with courage, determination and faith.

Debbie is survived by her two sons, the pride of her life. David James (DJ) Humphries (Roxanne) currently serving in the US Navy in Corpus Christie, TX, and William Robert (Billy) Humphries (Christina) currently of Metairie, LA. Two grandchildren, whom she adored, children of DJ and Roxanne, Abby and Noah. One grandson expected to Billy and Christina September 2017.

She is also survived by 6 siblings. Christine Horn Osborn (Jefferson) Peekskill, NY; James Horn (Drusilla) Utica, NY; Kathy Horn Kinney, St. George, UT; Tom Horn (Debby) Raynham, MA; Ken Horn, Union City, GA; Scott Horn (Jaime) Holbrook, MA.

Preceded in death by her parents William (Bill) and Beverly Horn of Stoughton, MA.

Debbie graduated from Stoughton High School in 1973. She was voted "class clown" and continued to live up to that honor throughout her life. She had a great sense of humor and delighted in making people laugh. She never met a stranger and had the ability to make people feel like they had been friends for a long time after only a matter of minutes.

A loving and dedicated single mother, she raised her sons in Newnan, GA, and was one proud mama. She seized every opportunity to brag about her sons' achievements and accomplishments. She opened her home to friends and family and even strangers in need on multiple occasions. Many of her sons' friends considered her "another mother."

She built a successful sales career at Universal Forest Products, and helped open many of the Home Depot stores in Georgia. She became known as "Depot Debbie" the go-to person for excellent customer service, help and problem solving.

Debbie Humphries was a woman of great faith. She gave her life to Christ through baptism in the Crossroads Church of Newnan. She lived as steadfast disciple always willing to witness and invite others to be saved. She lived with the confidence that she would return to her Lord and we will all be reunited again someday.
