“ There is very little that words can say that will touch how much Liz will be missed. How much of an example of God's love she was. And of grace through suffering. What an example she was to me of enduring "well" in the face of trials and adversity. What a strength. That Kurt and she, and her family always found hope and that their testimony brought strength to me and those around them. I want to extend my expression of love to kurt's dear parents who never failed to be there. the love you showed is noticed. again, the world is going to be short one wonderful soul. goodbye for now. love you.
