Fred was born in Hildale UT. Fred grew up enjoying hunting, fishing, and the great outdoors. He loved and pestered his siblings. Later in his life he wanted to game and make sure that he wasn't a burden to anyone. He never once complained and didn't like to ask for help.

Fred is survived by his two parents, Glenda and Fred; siblings Simon, Benjamin, Hyrum, Lydia, Merlin, Martha, Yolanda, Rosie, Stephen, Jennetta, Marenda, Richard, Sam, Sherwin, and many, many more!

Fred and his whole family would like to thank...

“ Everywhere you were everywhere you went, wherever you were a light of love, joy and kindness shined . You're heart was pure, you're body full of pain and sickness. Not the slightest whisper of complaint came from you're lips. You wanted love and happiness for all of us. Even on you're last days, here on earth , you were concerned about everyone else's health. To you , you're suffering wasn't a "big deal" Everyone was making a big deal out of nothing. You apologized for having a oxygen mask on. You were strong and happy even though you were dying.

You're pain is over, suffering no more. You're dancing in the sky with grandma and all the beautiful angels. They sing with joy you're there at last to spread you're love and make every memory last. I see you there laughing at jokes, smiling at the peace you now enjoy. I prayed for comfort and love for you. God wrapped his arms of love around you're being. They say only the "good" dye young , well I'm here to tell you "good" doesn't describe you. There was so much more to you. You're strength was more than the weight of the world. You're laugh was contagious . Humility was you're strong suite, courage guided you. You're clever intelligence was what intertwined you're mind. You're not sitting on a beach watching the sunset, you're in the sky painting the beauty we enjoy. The stars, they shine a little brighter. The birds sing louder. The plants smile and the wind calms. You're home at last to stay with the angles and make every memories last. I love you ❤️

“ Also due to Covid the viewing will be close family so please honor that! I also know Fred didn't want a lot of people making a big deal about him so please just ask family for pictures or memories of the viewing in place of attending!
