“ I first met Marilyn when I taught school at Escalante Valley Elementary in 1977. I taught a few of her boys while I was there. Marilyn was a volunteer reading mother then, and for decades thereafter. She was so committed to teaching her kids to read.

We became reacquainted when I started teaching Kindergarten at Enterprise Elementary around 2007. By then, she was a grandma and a teacher's aide. I so admired her dedication to the education of not only her children, but everyone's children. I was amazed that she still wanted to teach and be around kids in her 70's!

Marilyn was so kind and soft spoken. To my knowledge, as by that time, I was teaching her grandchildren, she passed on these traits to her children. She was a legend, and the world will miss her presence in it.

My condolences and prayers,
Celia Rencher Snow

“ When I became engaged she asked if she could make my wedding dress. It was a beautiful dress.

Marilyn had a real talent sewing and hemming.

Many quilts were made under her care.

Marilyn worked at our local elementary schools as a cook and she made the best rolls and bread.

Marilyn loved to read and helped many children at our local school with the reading program.

Marilyn was top of her class and was the valedictorian of her class.

She was one credit shy of graduating college when she was needed to help at home with her mothers failing health.

Marilyn raised wonderful children and loved them very much.

Marilyn and Malin served a full time mission together.
