What mattered most to Max were the relationships he built and shared along the way with so many.

*I have great memories of Max from his high school days at Western, when one of his best buddies was Eddie Console.
I also remember when Max worked at a gas station on Charleston Blvd. just up from Panorama Market.
He had a cool dune buggy and we all used to go riding in it out in the desert, and go camping.
I lost track of him when going into the Navy during the Viet Nam war.
I always wondered what became of him, and if he had moved from Las Vegas.
He was a good friend.
Rest in peace Max.*
