“ What I remember about Paul is his thick, curly, dark blonde hair, his joy playing table games with my family, his enthusiasm when we were appointed Dance Directors for our stqke in California. He was a natural at dancing.

He had recently returned from his mission in France when I met him. I was impressed that Paul was fluent in French, so when we made a trip to France, he wowed the locals as an American who could speak their language fluently. He was very proud of that and of his way with people.

Most of all, I appreciate his ability to take responsibility as a father to our son, Jason. Paul took charge of his son when I had to work and could not take care of him. It was hard for Jason when he could no longer be with his Tyler family because his father moved to Utah, but Jason had a chance to have a wonderful father. Thank you Paul for taking care of our son as a single parent alone for so many years. I am also grateful for my three grandchildren in Utah: Tyler, Jason, and Amanda. Peace be with you Paul.
